

Let's Teach all

"ALL done!" "I want ALL of them." "We're ALL here!"

ALL is a useful word for talking about a whole group or the entire amount of something. It helps learners include others, describe quantities, and communicate when something is complete.

FIND

Find the word in the vocabulary. ALL is a function word, so it will typically be a teal or white word. It is often located on the EXTRA WORDS or DETERMINERS page of many vocabularies. If you can't find ALL, use the Word Finder feature to learn where it is.

INTRODUCE

Use ALL in context and try to explain it at the learner's level. Modeling, touching the word in the vocabulary as you say it, may help. Here's an example: "ALL means every one or the whole amount. Here are three blocks. Let's put ALL the blocks in the box." Put each block inside as you model. "Now ALL the blocks are in!"

MODEL

Model the word throughout the day, touching ALL in the vocabulary anytime you say it.

"Let's ALL play." "Put them ALL in." "He ate ALL the cookies." "I slept ALL night." "Not ALL of them."

ENCOURAGE

Create activities to provide lots of models and practice with ALL.

Book: Make a photo book called All Together! Include pictures of familiar people participating in shared activities. Model "We ALL went to the concert" or "We're ALL together."

Game: Gather a group of toys or objects. Model "Find ALL the animals" or "Put ALL the cars here." Let the learner collect items or direct a partner.

EXPECT

Create opportunities for the learner to say the word. Make sure to wait, and look so they know it is expected.

Offer a choice of how many materials to use. The learner might say "ALL" or "I want ALL of them."

When the learner wants to end an activity, acknowledge their message and model "ALL done." Honor their request whenever possible.
